

Cowichan Stewardship Roundtable Minutes

March 16 2017

After introduction to the meeting our usual update from all organizations. It was noted by Tom Rutherford that Streamkeepers started in 1990s and is still very active. Cowichan watershed atlas test by March 30.

After Coffee our speaker was Kevin Pellet on his “catching small fish project”. This was a very good presentation. (I want to know more about the squid)

His studies are leading to a better understanding of where our Cowichan fish go to start the ocean time as well as point out the other stocks of fish that are around. The new tags seem to be a great way of tracking the smolts to adults. We will find that out as years pass and we get adults that are tagged returning.

Shaw creek presentation is opposed by Cowichan Tribes and Dididat. BCWF will send a letter of support. (We have since been reminded to hold off letters to CVRD until notice of hearing is published).

We will be doing the TOR next meeting as we ran out of time again!
Things not to forget.

Election coming please exercise your right to vote.

Heritage river for 150th year event, Sept. 30.

Bring back the Bluebird April 30th at Cowichan Bay Pub.
